I am hoping that Phil can shake it loose – ie. If he can get a minute of time he will get permission to move it forward.

I'll be working long hours in a command post somewhere. I expect it will be good experience. Have only done this work from our R8 EOC so it will be interesting.

Thanks, Lisa. Should I read into your narrative that your management will not likely move this forward for some time as a result of the mine incident? Be careful out there and good luck.

Larry,

I had sent the letter to my ARA and deputy Martin Hestmark and Sandy Stavnes to make sure I incorporated their concerns and they were OK with letter. Both have been tied up with Gold King Mine Release since then (the river that was flowing yellow). In fact, I think Martin may be in Durango now. I will send Phil and David a note to see if they can get permission to move it forward.

I am on the response team and headed to Durango later today for what may be two weeks.
